ands Curtis, tenor, will be included in the soloists Thursday night. He is a member of the music faculty.

Soloists Named

Ina Lou Elison, Oakley, Ida., will be the mezzo-soprano soloist. She was last seen as the star of Buzet's opera "Carmen."

Richard Robison, Murray, veteran of Fred Waring's "Festival of Song "organization and nine years with the Tabernacle Choir, will be the baritone soloist. Robison and Miss Elison are graduate students.

Betty Hoover, Springville, and Doreen Kurr, Salt Lake City, sopranos, will also be soloists.

Work Edited

Performed in Latin the Mass will last approximately an hour and 40 minutes. In its entirety the work requires two hours to be performed, however a small part has been cut for the Brigham Young University performance.

Bach authority and interpreter Albert Schweitzer, described the arias and duets as " beautiful valleys between the mountain choruses."

One of the most sincerely religious of men, Bach, a Lutheran, found in the form of the Mass the transcendent possibilities of expression for his faith, and it lives more vividly for us today perhaps because of our greater musical resources for its performances.

Assembly To Feature Flappers

"Oh you kid" "23 Skidoo," and other such phrases which picture the bey day of the 1920's will be brought to life by the assembly Thursday.

"Money to burn," is slated as the theme of the Kappa Deb-Alcyone sponsored event Thursday morning. Underscore of the assembly is the fact that one lone male will share the spotlight with an all-girl cast.

According to the assembly committee for "Money to Burn" flappers and Keystone type bathing beauties will dominate the scene set in the roaring twenties.

Money and love are the center of the plot involving the typical rich girl filling for the property struck delivery boy.

Camile Paulos, Compton, Calif., is cast as the rich girl who falls in love with delivery boy Bob Williams, Mesa, Ariz. As the plot thickens, dancers and singers carry on the show.

SHADES OF ROARING TWENTIES—Practicing for the Kappa Deb-Alcyone assembly Thursday in Smith Fieldhouse, are social unit members, Carrol Crose, Carole Stevens, Aleyone, Hazel Ruth Davis and Pauline Anderson, Kappa Deb.

Groups To Request Assembly Times

Organizations wishing to present assemblies next year must have their assembly chairman and, if possible, their scriptwriter at a meeting on Thursday at 4:30 p. m. in the Executive Conference room, basement of Clark Student Service Center, according to Becky Broadbent, First Vice-President elect.

It is imperative that organizational representatives be present if they are considering presenting an assembly next year. Also, chairmen should plan during which quarter they wish to put on the assembly so tentative dates can be set.

Political Science Test Set

Senior Comprehensive Exam for all graduating Political Science majors will be given Tuesday, 207 McKay, 3 to 5 p. m.

Political Science majors who plan to graduate and who have not previously taken this test must take it prior to graduation stated Stewart L. Grow, chairman of Department of Political Science.

SOMETHING BORROWED

One hundred and sixteen unbound periodicals were "borrowed" from the Grant Library last year and the trend is going to continue this year. This represents not only headaches for the library staff, loss of many valuable articles, but is also a miserable black mark on the reputation of those who use the library' facilities.

SCHOOL'S LIFE-BLOOD

The life-blood of any university is its library system. Development of an adequate research collection is a process which involves years of judicious purchasing. Periodical literature is of paramount importance to research on the college level. No true research institution will dispose of any of its holdings of magazines, rather it will acquire back issues in order to complete runs of periodicals.

It is permissable to sign out both bound and unbound magazines at the library. Because of the heavy demand for such periodicals they are limited to overnight circulation.

SELFISH AND DISHONEST

However, it seems that some are selfish enough and dishonest enough that they will remove issues and even volumes without authorization, use them at their convenience, and sometimes return them.

What happens to those items which are not returned? In many cases some lost items cannot be replaced. Of course effort is exerted to either recall or replace what is lost, but often the effort is fruitless and bours of work are wasted.

FRUSTRATING "BORROWER"

One of the most frustrating "borrowers" is the type who removes an unbound periodical in June of one year and returns it in March of the next. In the interim tbe library will have to delay binding tbe annual volume until the missing issue returns or a new copy is purchased.

The campus building program calls for a new library within the next five years. We trust that BYU students will develop the maturity necessary to properly use the valuable collection of books, magazines and other library materials that will be available in the kind of library a university such as ours should have.

Who Creased Costello's Skull?

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK CITY—INS—Lots of people wonder why Frank Costello, 66 and possibly cancerous, chose to take a 30-day rap, after all the time he has spent in the can, rather than tell the police what they wanted to know about a slip of paper in his pocket It had to do with a $600,000 casino play.

Apparently, the New York cops gave up on trying to find out from Costello who might have ordered him shot recently. There's every reason to believe him when he husked that "some punk" creased his skull with a single shot.

Bloke Shot

The bloke who shot Costello probably wasn't important enough ever to have met him socially. He was probably some poor miserable, Godless skunk hired to do the job for maybe $500, with the understanding that if anything went wrong he'd be on his own. They would not tell him the rest.

He missed from ten feet, with nobody pushing him. By now he probably is dead even as he would have been if he had scored a direct hit. Alive, the fumbler would represent a potential embarrassment to his employers. He might get drunk and spill the story to a girl or, worse, to a reporter

Rubbed Out

If he had killed Costello, he most certainly would have been rubbed out, a simple track-covering detail, just as the bum who threw acid into Victor Riesel's eyes and made the mistake of spilling a bit on himself was shot like a fish in a bowl by the people who hired him.

Costello probably has a clear idea of which new or conceivably old group or syndicate tried to cancel him. But this man was raised in a curious, unmoral world where there are certain rules and dogma—variously enforced—which sometimes take on the durability of the constitution of the U.S.

The cops will beat up a punk who tries to live up to the code. They wouldn't lay a hand on Costello. Indeed, there is a completely lawless and grudging respect within the law for a well-heeled scoff-law who won't tell.

Costello is probably a millionaire. He made an utter mint as a bootlegger: had one boat in his rum-running flotilla which, alone, could invade with 50,000 cases, He probably had a piece of Frank Erickson's colossal pre-Kefauver bookmaking business. He got his slot machines into Louisiana through Huey Long, was a partner of Phil Kastel around New Orleans, the Lanskys in Dade County, Florida, and Benny Seigal in Las Vegas. He and a couple of associates bought control of one of the world's great distilleries of scotch whisky, after importing shiploads of it during prohibition. He owns a hunk of Wall Street.

Brickers' Tausigs' That's all we heard last week as the two units poked fun at each other in a supposedly violent argument.

You could guess that the ordeal was too much for the "Greeks" though after seeing what was left of a display of cookies in the Smith Family Living Center The empty plate and crumbs were accompanied with a tell-tale note, "The Tausigs did it!"

Now just maybe you "Goldies" know what happened to the "eats."

The other units were not to be left out of the picture altogether though as far as campus concern goes Talk has been "gossiped" about campus that social units should be banned from BYU. The "busybodies" spreading the rumors have undoubtedly never compared our social units to the national social groups of other colleges Were they to look into the matter they would understand why our church leaders and BYU faculty members are behind the units wholeheartedly.

If the spirit shown Y-Day was considered bad, what could we consider the social "blasts" at other universities to be?

Squeals and yelps could be heard coming from the Cougareat the other day. On investigating we found a young man displaying a coiling snake to a group of good looking coeds

Must one be a "viper" now to attract so many cute girls in our lunchrooms?

Freshman "papers" and senior "thesis" are becoming the thing about campus these last days of the quarter

The "book house" is bulging from all corners as students bustle about their research, knocking each other over in the confusion.

In the middle of this jumble sits sophomore Frank (lover) Meredith calmly glancing at the cartoons in the bound volumes of New Yorker

Trails Paved

Log steps and paved trails led across the small canyon and stream to the south of the campus, past the springs and power generator, and up the opposite side to faculty cabins, more corns and the president's home.

Above these cabins, a flat easy trail led through ferns and aspens carved with lovers initials to beautiful Stewart Falls.

Facilities Provided

West of the campus, toward the base of Timpanogos trail, campfire sites, a ball park and an amphitheatre provided entertainment facilities for students.

Limited graduate studies of zoology, botany, and art were held during the summer of 1947. This was the first time that Aspen Grove was used for classes since the War.

A check at the offices of the History Committee of Grant Library revealed folios of photographs of the days when Aspen Grove was an active BYU summer campus. Disregarding the passage of years, one can still in these pictures the familiar faces of Adam S. Bennion, Herald R. Clark, B. F. Larsen, Carl Eyring and many other BYU alumni.

Past Charged

BYU studentbody no longer enjoys "Summers at Aspen Grove." Disuse has resulted in the ceilings removal of several buildings and trails which are found underneath the underbrush. Students can still visit the BYU Aspen Grove campus for summer picnics and image to imagine student life there.

Athenians To Entertain Dates At Dixie Ball

by Ray Tracy

'Tis a southern mansion home, not many years ago, twenty-five gay young ladies have dressed in yellow and white lace.

Fresh mint juleps prepared ready to them in the garden before dinner was announced.

The atmosphere became filled with aroma from heaping platters of southern fried chicken shortly before the dinner bell.

Great ballroom doors were opened after dinner, and violin music before the first guitted Dixie Ball.

'Tis a true, southern hospitality that will be given at the Athenian Dixie Ball.

Valet bachelorettes have delegated assistants to ballet be-hind by Athenian hosts for the annual affair which will be held Friday evening at seven p. m. at Salt Lake City's Memory Grove.

There in the garden amidst dogwood blossoms and lovely lilac bushes, couples will be seated to listen to the music of the Athenian's excitement of modern southern pleasantness, as well as the social season.

Baseballers Host Montana Friday; Condition of Diamond Big Question

"I think that this must be the year of the flood," said Jay Van Noy, commenting on the current weather conditions. "We will probably have to float our next games against Montana, Friday."

Although the game is scheduled to start at 1:15 p. m. Van Noy said he was not certain whether it will be played on Cougar diamond or at Timp park. Condition of the Cat diamond will be the big decider. First game will be followed by a nightcap.

Both the Cats and the Grizzlies will be out to make both games count, since they are presently tied up at 3-3.

In the last meeting, the Grizzlies salvaged the nightcap 6-5 to split the series at Missoula, BYU winning the first game, 4-2.

"I think pitching will give us the edge we need to take both games, although the Silvertips have got some great hitters," said Van Noy.

"Our boys have left quite a few men on base this season, but I think they will be able to hustle enough to remedy this in our home games."

Commenting on chances of BYU taking Western Division honors, Van Noy said his team has to win both games Friday, and the Utes will have to split with Utah State, in order for the Cats to stay in contention.

The Cougar's final conference game will be played in Cougarville next Tuesday. This will be the Utah State game, which was cancelled due to rain earlier in the season.

For Saturday's game Van Noy will use his two pitching stalwarts, Jack Cravens and Owen Skousen; they will be backed by John Blair and Glenn Hatch.

Alternating catching duties will be Brent Pratley and Dale Lewis.

"With some changes to be made in the rest of the Cat line-up, the starters are not yet decided upon," said Van Noy.

At first base will be Jerry Warnick or Lynn Slater, now playing second will be Paul Haney or Stan Jackson.

Norm Christansen or Tom Stolnike will play shortstop with Phil Salter holding down third sack position.

In left field Paul Kitchen or Carl Brooks will take position with Cornell Taylor in center field, and either Leon Moyes or Larry Regis in right.

Surprise Features Big League Games

"Different" is the word to describe the young major league baseball season with surprise and misfortune dominating diamond play.

Admitted it's not too surprising to find Milwaukee at the top of the National League with their booming bats and their adequate pitching, plus the fact that they get excellent support from Wisconsin's baseball-crazy fans.

It is a surprise to find Brooklyn down in fourth place winning just over half of their games, especially when they have been on top for years.

The term misfortune belongs to the American League in the form of a badly mangled eye suffered by Herb Score, brilliant Cleveland pitcher.

Rodeo Team Wins At Wyoming Eyes National Championships

by Don Thorup

Western week is about the only time Brigham Young University's rodeo team comes to light, but these boys are constantly practicing and representing the studentbody in competition.

The Cougar cowboys are currently tied for second place in region meets with Wyoming. The Cats are members of the Rocky Mountain region.

A three-foot high traveling trophy and a permanent trophy are now in the possession of the team as a result of winning first place in the University of Wyoming Inter-collegiate Rodeo last weekend.

Roughriders Win

In winning the roughriders scored 310 points to runner-up Wyoming's 270. This is the second year in a row that BYU has won the Wyoming meet as brought home the traveling trophy. One more win and the Cougars will have permanent possession of the three foot prize.

At Wyoming Leo Stewart took first in calf roping, followed by teammate Darrol Jarvis who placed second for the Cats. Saddle bronco riding was won by George Chournos, and R. V. Stephenson finished second in bulldogging to pass BYU.

Teams Compete

Friday and Saturday the rodeo team will split up and enter the Chadron State Teachers College rodeo in Nebraska, and the Utah State University meet at Logan. The Cats are trying to gain undisputed second place in the region.

Two teams from each region will go to the National Championship rodeo at Colorado Springs, Clo., June 13-16. It is of necessity for the Cougars to take either first or second place in region contests to be eligible for the championship meet.

Region Try

It is felt that BYU has a good chance of taking region honors and going on to the National meet. There the Cats will be riding against teams from Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota.

On a campus the size of BYU especially during the spring many athletic teams represent the school and some of the teamaren't as well known as others but all of them are outstanding in their own right. The rodeo team is upholding the winning ways of their better known varsity athletes in spring competition.

BYU Hosts Division Track Meet

by Don Thorup
Daily Universe Sports Writer

Records will be endangered, honors at stake, and fans thrilled when Utah, Montana, Utah State, and BYU invade Cougar Stadium Saturday for the Western Division track meet.

BYU will be out to better the 66½ points they scored in winning the division meet last year, and are tabbed by many to do it with ease. Strongest competition will come in the 100, 220, high hurdles, shot put, discus, javelin and high jump.

Records Endangered

Western Division and conference records will be at stake in Saturday's meet, and it is a good bet many of them will fall. The 440, mile, broad jump, and pole vault records are pretty safe, as all are much better than current performances.

Leading Utah will be Kent Christensen, 100 and 220 ace. The "blond flash" has already bettered the conference 220 record and tied the century mark. The Utes are fairly strong in the weights, and Jack Clement and Bruce Johnson bolster their distance men.

L. J. Silvester, Western Division record holder in the shot put, is Utah State's big point getter, and is a threat to conference shot put and discus records Ezra Smith, 100 yard dash, and Harold Theliss, high jump, are the other top point getters

Montana Strong

Montana is strong in the high hurdles, mile relay and javelin. Ron Lundstedt leads the Grizzlies in the javelin, and the mile relay team will be out to defend their conference win of last spring.

Cougar track enthusiasts will be able to witness one of the finest collegiate fields of the year, and see the Cats excell in almost every event. BYU's best chances of setting records are in the 880, two mile, 120 high hurdles, 220 low hurdles, and mile relay.

Paul Anderson has run a 1: 53.1 in the 880, and could erase Arlyn Fitzhenry's old record of 1:54.1 set in 1955. It the two mile, Gary Griffeth has run a 9:34.7, two seconds off the present record.

Parker Shines

BYU's ace high hurdler, Dave Parker, has equalled the current Skyline mark of :14.4 earlier this season an could better it Saturday. Parker's counterpart in the low hurdles, Dick Millet, is running just five-tenths of a second off the Conference mark to date.

This is the last chance for track enthusiasts to view the Cougars in action, and the only chance to see all of the Western Division teams participating against each other.

Take On Men, Too. . .

Trio Of BYU Coeds Sports Perfect Ping Pong Record

Gates Hall has the distinction of housing doubles and singles champs in the recent women's intramural pang pong tournament.

Bonnie Brunker, a junior from Eagear, Ore., and Diane Foster, sophomore from Palo Alto, Calif., teamed up to win the doubles tourney for the second straight year.

It took two years of competition before anyone was able to win even one game from the champs.

It was not until the final night of play that they did not win their games in straight sets.

Nadda Smith and Irene Webb became the first girls to win a game from the champs, 15-10, but then were defeated 15-11 and 15-12.

Pat Blume of Brawley, Calif., swept through this year's singles ping pong competition in women's housing play in straight sets to win the title.

Miss Blume teamed with Bonnie Brunken and Diane Foster, the doubles champs, seldom less even to men who happen to wander in for a game of the little white sphere.

Since these three coeds will be back next year, it will be interesting to see if they can repeat their fine showings again.

Banyan Staff, Y Press Print Book

by Roger Larson
Daily Universe Writer

Y Press workers are now more than half way through the prodigious job of printing the 1957 Banyan

Few students realize the immense proportions the job of printing a 457 page book such as the Banyan Many also are unaware that Brigham Young University's printing plant can handle such a task.

Banyan pages are printed at the rate of 44 daily on a $20.000 German made Miehle offset press located in the printing plant The Y press is located directly Southeast of Clark Student Service Center

Jobs Listed

Besides its job of printing the Banyan the press produces many other items including the Daily Universe, school catalogue, BYU stationary and business forms tickets for school activities, and several lab and text books used on campus

According to pressman Eugene Orton, the press will make 140 runs and more than 784,000 separate impressions during the three week period in which the book is being printed.

The press is equipped to print the Banyan's colored section pages which will require four separate runs each During each run red, blue, yellow and then black will be added The result will be a-colored page.

Impressions Made

Impressions are made from photographically sensitized plates

After pictures such as class and activity pictures are taken they are pasted on large stiff paper sheets under the direction of Banyan Editor John Marlow.

Negatives of these sheets are then made under a strong carbon arc light, by press engraver Reese Faucett.

Printed matter which has been set up in type is then photographed and taped to the negatives containing pictures. These images are then transferred to the sensitized metal alloy printing plates, then the actual printed impressions are made producing four printed pages of two sides each.

Pages are then placed on a folding machine and folded twice After this operation the many separate eight page sections are gathered

The completed book will be sent to Deseret News Press facilities located in the Salt Lake City Industrial Center, where the book is bound and trimmed

The book's three color cloth cover printed at BYU will then be added.

Provo Names Reserve Center After University War Hero

One of Utah's outstanding war heroes, the late Sergeant Dale Randy Rex, will be honored when Provo's nearly completed $300,000 Army Reserve training center is named in his memory

According to Major Robert C McCaleb (USA), Provo Unit advisor, plans are being made to dedicate the building on Armed Forces Day Saturday, for the infantryman who was killed in World War II

Ignored Rejections

Rex, a 6' 7" basketball center for Brigham Young University, was rejected on three separate occasions when he tried to join the U.S Army in World War II This was mostly due to his height, but on the final trip to his recruiter they accepted him for service in the army.

A nephew of the late George Albert Smith, former president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Rex received his first citation for valor when he swam from safety back across a river to save many of his wounded comrades who had been left on the enemy side of the river.

Under Fire

All this he did while under constant fire of enemy guns, He struggled in this effort until he fell exhausted.

Shortly after the rescue incident, Rex was promoted from the ammunition carrier's job he had been handling to that of machine gunner. On one occasion, he kept his machine gun firing for nearly 60 continuous hours during the Battle of the Bulge, and was credited with killing 300 Germans

Later, Rex was killed when shot by a German sniper. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for valor after his death

Psychologists Begin Using New Facilities

New laboratories and research facilities, patterned after those at Harvard University, have been added to the Department of Psychology at Brigham Young University.

The new facilities are a part of the Smith Family Living Center.

Because university officials were able to plan from the ground up, the laboratories and other departmental additions are among the most up-to-date in the West, according to Dr. Mark Allen, department chairman.

Aside from the regular offices and class rooms, the psychology department now has a general experimental laboratory, five special laboratories equipped with one-way mirrors and sound systems, a room housing a "lie detector", a light proof room, a sound proof room, a statistical laboratory and numerous other additions.

BYU Unit Installs Youngest 'Pioneers'

Officers for the youngest unit in the national society of the Sons of Utah Pioneers have been elected by students in the Temple Hill chapter at Brigham Young University.

Sam H. Udall, Phoenix, Ariz., was named 1957-58 president of the chapter to succeed Paul Turner, Sunnyside. Other officers elected were Gary Hallack, Los Angeles, Calif., vice president and Ferral Knight, Mesquite, Nev., secretary.

Faculty advisor is Dr Oliver R Smith, chairman of the BYU journalism department.
